2017 Media Accreditation

All news organizations covering the Collingwood Elvis Festival are required to have a media pass in order to access Festival controlled venues, including the Eddie Bush Memorial Arena. Photos and videos of any trademarked material are not permitted.

News organizations are defined as accredited journalists affiliated with a print, online, radio or television outlet, who have been assigned to cover the 2017 Collingwood Elvis Festival. The Collingwood Elvis Festival may assist broadcast and cable news organizations interested in producing short segments featuring The Collingwood Elvis Festival as part of a larger broadcast program. For longer segments, or productions explicitly intended to be used for commercial or documentary purposes beyond the definition of news, the advance approval of Elvis Presley Enterprises must be received in writing.

For all other venues, please contact the venue owner to arrange for access. A media pass may be required. Please fill out the accreditation form on the reverse, and Festival Staff can advise you as to whether a media pass is required.

Please fill in the information on the reverse and return to media@collingwoodelvisfestival.com or by fax to 705 445-1463 by 11:00 a.m. on Monday, July 24, 2017. For accreditation requests after July 24, please contact the media representative directly by phone at 705-444-2500.

Due to space limitations, the Festival reserves the right to limit the participants, even amongst registered media outlets.
